PEACE JUBILEE COMMITTEE'S FIRST MEETING.

BIG EFFORT TO GET M'KINLEY

THE SUB-COMMITTEE LEAVES FOR CLEVELAND TO-NIGHT.

Commercial Organizations to Meet To-day and Extend Formal Invitations-Will Try to Get Schley, Clark and Roosevelt.

The first thing Kansas City will do to wards her big Peace jubilee will be to impress President McKinley with the fact that he must attend it. This was decided upon at the meeting of the Peace jubilee committee at the Coates House clubroom last evening, and a committee consisting of Major Warner, W. B. Clarke, Bishop Glennon and Colonel Gentry was appointed to leave to-night for Cleveland, O., where the president is visiting, with instructions not to come home until they have his

The committee appointed by Mayor Jones was nearly all present at the meeting, which was called to order by C. D. Parker. Major Warner was made chair-man of the committee and P. E. Burrough secretary. It was then promptly voted to add to the committee Mayor Jones and the presidents of all the commercial organizations, such as the Board of Trade Manufacturers' Association, Live Stock exchange, Real Estate and Stock exchange. Builders and Traders' exchange. Commercial Club, Produce May Dealers Association, Implement, Vehicle and Hardware Club, Paint, Oil and Varnish Club, and all similar organizations and the president of the In-

Invitations to the President.

After the committee had been appointed to visit President McKinley it was decided to ask the mayor and council and all the commercial organizations possible to hold meetings to-day and extend formal invita-tions to the president so the committee can take them along when they leave for Cleveland this evening.

The meeting then adjourned to meet at the Commercial Club rooms Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at which time the committee will have returned with the president's reply.

The committee is not going to be satisfied with President McKinley alone, but is also going right out after Commodore Schley

BABY WAS GIVEN HER.

Lizzie Bland, a Domestic, Turns Over to the Police an Unknown Child.

Miss Lizzie Bland, employed at Sixteenth and Penn streets, carrying a crowing baby in her arms, attracted the attention of a large crowd at Fourteenth and Main street last evening by relating a story of the buby's abandonment. She claims that the baby was given to her yesterday by a woman whose name she refused to divulge, and who, she said, lived at Grand avenue and Twenty-third street. Officer Kennard escorted her to police headquarters, and from there she and the baby were sent to the Helping Hand institute.

Hardly Probable That Any Effort Will Be Made to Bring G. A. R. En-

campment Here. Kansas City will in all probability not endeavor to secure the G. A. R. encamp-ment in 1839. In the fire that the project will be given up this time.

Major William Warner said last evening that the time between now and the gathering at Cincinnati is entirely too short in which to collect the fund necessary to guarantee the proper entertainment of the veterans here next year. At present we have too many irons in the fire. However, when Convention hall is completed we will be in a position to go after everything in sight.

be in a position to go after everything sight.

Walton H. Holmes, of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, after a conference with Secretary Clendening, of the Commercial Club, in regard to the guarantee, said yesterday that the project would probably be deferred for a year.

William Higgins, former secretary of state of Kansus, has the following to say of the encampment:

of the encampment:
To The Journal.
In a recent issue of The Journal I noticed an interview hal with that grand Republican leader and excommander of G. A. R. national department, Major William Warner, in which it was stated that Kanass City could secure the national G. A. R. encampment for 1990 if the proper organized effort was made by the people of Greater Kanass City.

There is no doubt but what Kanass City can get the national G. A. R. encampment. This city can get anything it goes after by a united and organized effort.

Permit me to suggest to this people that the na-tional encampment of the Grand Army of the Repub-lic is a gathering that it would be well to secure for this city in 1800, as it would undoubtedly bring together the largest gathering of the divisions of the old veteran army of 1861 and 1865 that was eve massed at any national encampment held since the war, for the reason a great per cent of the living members of that organization lives west of the Missis members of that organization and the a great thing to have here, but why would it not be a proper thing also to organize at once to secure the next Republican national convention, and even the national Demonational convention, and even the national Democratic convention?

Neither has ever been held west of St. Louis or Chicago, and why not pull for Greater Kansas City, which, in fact, is the true and only commercial and political center of the great West? There is no reason why this people should not secure one or both of these important gatherings. Kansas City has every accommodation to meet all the requirements and the necessities of such conventions with the completion of the great hall.

Let the people organize for this purpose now, and map out a campaign for their city, which is the most prosperous and growing city in the country to-day, and which the child that is born this year, and should live to the age of 20 years, will see Kansas City, Mo.
the fourth or fifth city in this nation in point of population and commercial importance. Yours, etc.,
WILLIAM HIGGINS.

FORM AN ASSOCIATION.

Citizens of the Fourteenth Ward Organise for the Purpose of Pushing Improvements.

A large number of the representative citizens of the Fourteenth ward met last night in the hall at the corner of Seventh and Poplar streets and organized the Fourteenth Ward Improvement Association, an organization for the purpose of shaping all improvements in this district, for opening new streets, obtaining new grades and sidewalks, and generally to look out for the welfare of the property owners and citi-

with President McKinley alone, but is also going right out after Commodore Schley, Captain Clark, of the Oregon; Colonel "Teddy" Roosevelt and other prominent heroes of the war, and if Kansas City don't have some people here on Jubileo day who were a big help in making a Jubileo day possible, it won't be the fault of the committee, which is taking hold of the celebration in earnest.

Many plans and features were talked over, but it was concluded to make no definite decision until it is known whether the president can come and upon what date. A parade seems certain, though not what its nature will be, and there was the strongest kind of sentiment in favor of a great vocal chorus of school children and the musicians of the city in general. In connection with the singing of the school children a suggestion of Mr. Burrough that a living flag be given by the children seems to take well.

These are a beautiful spectacle and would be especially appropriate at a celebration of the victories of the flag. Placed upon iters of raised seats, the effect is wonderful, the waving motion of the flag being brought out by the swaying of the children seems brought out by the swaying of the children seems brought out by the swaying of the children seems to take well.

Services Will Be Resumed in the Old Church House, Tenth Near Broad-

It is understood that Dr. Stone, who was the former stood that Dr. Stone, who was the times treasurer of the American Unitarian As-sociation, has accepted the pastorate to this church. Rev. Dr. John E. Roberts was the pastor of the church for several years until last year, when he servered his connection with it and organized the Church of This World, which met last year in the Coates opera house. Many of the most prominent members of All Souis' church went into the new movement, but a strong minority refused. The church building was leased for the year to the Christian Science organization and All Souis' congregation worshiped in the old Y. M. C. A. auditorium at Ninth and Locust streets, with Rev. Mr. W. G. Todd as pastor.

PUZZLED AS TO A FENDER Metropolitan Street Railway Company Has Not Definitely Decided

the Vexed Question.

The question of fenders is still an unset tled one with the Metropolitan Street Railway Company. The old Elliott canvas fender, such as is used now on the East Ninth street cable line, is the choice of everything tried so far, and although it is one of the oldest ones, the company is one of the oldest ones, the company is considering its adoption altogether. "It is possible, however." said Superintendent Walton Holmes yesterday, "that I may find something better on my trip to Boston. I start the latter part of this week for the annual convention of the American Railway Association, to be held there September 5, 6 and 7, and the thing I shall watch out for more than anything else is a fender that will do what is wanted of it. The meeting will be a good place to learn, as there will probably be over 4,000 street rallway men, and everything new in the way of street rallway appliances will be on exstreet railway appliances will be on exibition.

OWL CARS IMPOSSIBLE. General Manager Holmes Says That They Could Not Be Run Under

the Present System.

It will likely take more than a resolution of the Typographical Union to put ow cars on the streets of Kansas City. The question seems to be more one of topography than typography, Mr. W. H. Holm answer to an inquiry concerning what would be done indicates the main difficulty would be done indicates the main difficulty. He said: "Horses would have to be the motive power used and they could not pull the cars up the hills. We could hardly run the cable all night, because at night is the time used to repair our machinery, in order to give satisfactory service during the day. Any owl car service we could furnish would neither pay us nor be acceptable to the night patrons. Many cities where streets are level have owl cars, but Kansas City is not adapted for all night street cars, and while we would be pleased to accommodate the printers who are asking for this service, we could hardly consider the proposition at present."

POLICE DISCLOSE IDENTITY OF "GEORGE ALLBRIGHT."

Declare the Man Arrested in Sedalia Engineered the Walnut Street Land Swindle That Netted $7,760.

Chief of Police John Haves and Inspector John Halpin said yesterday that "George Allbright," the man arrested in Sedalia for complicity in the Walnut street hotel swindle, is "James M. Several days after he had left the city an accomplice, who gave his name as Henry Watts, called on Mackenzie Bros. and received their personal check for $5,500. Watts presented the check at the National Bank of Commerce and by the paying teller was requested to have some responsible citizen identify him. Watts proceeded to Crutcher & Welsh's office, explained the circumstance and by them was given a check for $7,760, they retaining Mackenzie Bros.' check, the difference in the amounts of the two checks representing the commission due them on the sale of the property.

Watts returned to the bank, accompanied by John McGovern, a hanger-on at the saloon conducted by McCrory & Prior in the building at Sixth and Wainut, presented Crutcher & Welsh's check, received the money, and immediately thereafter left the city.

Mrs Watte was arrested last week at Cherryvale, Kas., by the police and she was Cherryvale, Kas., by the police and she was in the custody of Marshal Chiles until she gave bond last Saturday. In her right shoe, when searched at headquarters, a $1,000 bill, one of the seven received by Watts from the National Bank of Commerce, was found. He is about $5 years of age, has a round, smooth face, large eyes, is dark complexioned, stands about five feet nine inches and weighs about 170 pounds. He is of German birth, is a pleasant conversationalist and dresses well. To Chief Hayes and inspector Halpin he has been very communicative and it is believed has related all the details of the swindle. After leaving Kansas City he visited Leavenworth, Wichita, a town in Southern Illinois, St. Louis and Sedalia, and at the last place had been a guest at the Commercial house two days when arrested by Detectives Sanderson and Bryant.

He fell just as his partner, Clarke, appeared upon the scene, and Hinds transferred his attentions to the latter. Clarke seized the Riggle woman and held her for a shield, but she Riggled loose, and when Clarke started to run Hinds brought him down with a bullet in the leg.

Tom Clarke, a brother, was then put to flight, Hinds missing him, and then Hinds calmly took Mrs. Riggle's arm and walked to the power house at Eighteenth and Olive streets, where he coolly informed the men that he "had shot two or three men," and was ready to be arrested. He was taken to headquarters and a charge of assault with intent to kill was lodged against him. He was released shortly afterward on $750 bond, which was taken up by the givers yesterday.

ROUGH RIDER SCOTT REAY ON ARMY "HARDSHIPS."

He Declares the Stories of Suffering Are Largely Overdrawn-Some People Would Kick Anywhere, He Says.

Four genuine Roosevelt rough riders assed through the city last night on their from Montauk Point to their homes in Oklahoma on furlough. They were W D. Amrine, Scott Reay, Walter Cook and Clare Stewart, privates of Troop B, First Volunteer cavalry, Colonel Teddy Roosevelt, commanding.
"A whole lot of this stuff you people have been hearing about the hardships of our men is bosh," said Private Reay. "As a matter of fact any one of the soldiers only knows what happens to him and his immediate companions. He gets a knowledge of other things in the same way that a civilian does, through rumors and the newspapers. Put a lot of men together of them that will find something to kick about and their kicks will be as reasonable as some that have been made from the army.

"There were a lot of kids that we have seen in this war that did not have enough sense to know when they were well treated and they are to blame for a whole lot of the criticism that has gone out over the

the criticism that has gone out over the country. Again there were some of the men in the regular regiments that got sick, and when a man is sick things appear to be working against him worse than they do at other times. He magnines his troubles, you know.

"Now we have been off by ourselves where you could not catch us at it if we told you a big pack of lies about the suffering we had gone through and a whole lot of stuff of that kind. But what's the use? We are soldiers and expect more or less hardships in a thing of this kind. Where you get a lot of men together in a camp or in a city there is bound to be a lot of sickness, but in the camp it is closer together and we see more of it. It seems worse than it does when the men are at home.

"Still further there are a whole lot of worse than it does when the men are at home.

"Still further, there are a whole lot of men who went into this war for glory. Something to tell about. Many of them did not ind what they went for but are not in the humor to go home and acknowledge it. They are going to have something to tell anyway and as they have to have some one to blame for not getting into the fighting they blame Alger and Shafter and the rest for their sickness that possibly was caused by their drunken sprees after pay day. My opinion, perhaps, is made up from outside information partially, it is true, but I have seen things that make me believe I am correct.

outside information partially, it is true, but I have seen things that make me believe I am correct.

"We came up from Santiago on the Miami and besides our regiment there was a part of the Third regular cavalry on the same boat. We don't know how many. Privates don't learn those things with accuracy and we were sick and didn't care. We all had the fever, but were as well as circumstances would permit. A whole lot better than I would think we could have been under the conditions. Our food was not such as sick men ought to have on a voyage, but it was the best to be had and plenty of it, such as it was, mostly pork and hardtack. My stomach got so it would not stand the grease and one of the boys worked the officers' steward for a few extras for me. Then I got along all right. At Montauk they treated us fine. We have no kick coming on Montauk Point, not a bit. "How about the story that men want to be mustered out at once? It is correct. Many of the men we were with have large property interests in the West and now that the war is over want to get back to the business they have neglected. Many of the men that were in our troop have farms, ranches and other business out West and they are anxious to get home and look after things now that the fighting is done.

"I do not think it will be later than the 5th of next month before they will all be on their way home. We are ordered to report to Fort Reno at the expiration of our leave and the regiment had already begun to turn in its stuff when we left. I do not think there will be a rough rider outside of the regular army after next week."

Mr. Amrine and Mr. Reay are farmers whose homes are at Newkirk, Mr. Cook is a farmer from Enid, and Mr. Stewart is a painter from Pawnee. They left last night for their homes, and though they are privates they rode in a Pullman palace car out of Kansas City.

"Those fellows prové the difference between men and boys in the army." said a business man who was waiting for a train. "They are plainsmen and knew how to take care of themselves. The other fellows were boys from the cities that did not know a thing about roughing it. They had no constitutions to start with, and then did not have sense enough to take care of themselves when they got their pay, but had to go out for 'a time' that made them less able to withstand the hardships than had to go out for 'a time' that made them less able to withstand the hardships than less able to withstand the hardships than they were before. I believe the rough rid-ers know what they are talking about, and much of the sickness must have been as much the fault of the men themselves as of the war department and the officers."

M'NATT IS RECOVERING.

Sick Soldier Whom Miss Mary Miller So Generously Took to Her Mother's Home Will Soon Be Well.

Private Jeddo Q. McNatt, Company B. Twenty-second regular infantry, who was with his regiment during the three days battle before Santiago, is recovering from fever contracted in Cuba at the home of Mrs. A. B. Miller, 1743 Penn street. Mc. Natt is the soldier whom Miss Mary Miller, sister of Captain John Miller, generously sister of Captain John Miller, generously took to her mother's home, as reported in The Journal a few days ago. He refused yesterday afternoon to criticise the authorities for the treatment of the men during the Santiago campaign, but said that their suffering and sickness were due more to the fact that they were half starved while in the battle than to any other hardship they had to endure.

McNatt was one of the men who came from Cuba by way of Montauk Point. He says that there were 1.700 men on the Mobile, the boat upon which he came north from Cuba, and that it was an old-fashioned four deck cattle ship that had been whitefrom Cuba, and that it was an old-tashioned four deck cattle ship that had been white-washed inside but not thoroughly cleaned before it was loaded with sick soldiers. Of the 1,700 who were able to walk on board at Santiago, 700 had to be carried on shore at Montauk Point. In the hospital at the latter place the sick men were fed on hard-tack and pork.

McNatt was seen by Miss Mary Miller, sister of Captain J. W. Miller, of the Third regiment, as he came through St. Louis, She pittled him and upon his arrival at Kansas City had him taken to her home and is nursing him back to health. John Davis Back From Santiago.

John Davis Back From Santiago.

John Davis of Argentine, who was a soldier in the regular army, having joined August 12, 1835, for three years, received an honorable discharge a few days ago. He is now at his home in Argentine after serving under General Shafter at Santiago. He was with the first of the troops that landed in Cuba. He was in the Twentieth infantry, under command of Captain Irons, He took part in two fights, the first one being on July I, when El Caney was taken, and the second was the battle of San Juan hill. Davis says that he went through the slege at Santiago without a scratch, but that he saw many hardsnips, He had a light attack of malarial fever, from which he has fully recovered.

Private Robinson in Cincinnati. Private W. M. Robinson, Company C. Third Missouri, is at the hospital in Cincinnati, O., too ill to continue his journey home. He was granted a furlough and started for Kansas City from Camp Alger Va., on August 18, but became so sick that he could not proceed beyond Cincin-nati. His home is at 1864 Chestnut ave-nue.

WAS ENGAGED TO BOTH.

Rev. Mr. D. W. Martin Suspended From Pulpit for Six Months on Account of Fickleness.

Rev. Mr. D. W. Martin is a young Methodist Episcopal minister who lives at Potter, Kas., and yesterday the conference o his church, which is in session in Kansas City, Kas., suspended him for six months for being engaged to two girls at the same time, and then adding insult to that injury by marrying a third.

When the case came up for a hearing before the committee which had been ap-pointed to consider the matter, the defend-ant was present and "acknowledged the corn." He said, however, that he did not hink that it was a matter about which the conference had any say, as it lay entirely between himself and the young ladies concerned. The conference couldn't see it that way, however, and found him guilty.

Rev. Mr. Martin is a young man of very pleasing appearance and a plausible tongue. It seems that entanglements date back to something over a year ago, and Waterville, Kas., was the scene of his first operations. There it was that he met Miss Ada Brotherson, and soon afterward he became engaged to her, so it is said. But for some reason the engagement was kept secret, and while it was yet extant, the young minister met an attractive cousin of his betrothed, named Ida White. He became greatly enamored of her and paid both of the young ladies a great deal of attention. His attentions gave rise to some gossip, and when he heard of it he began to neglect his betrothed in favor of the more recent arrival upon the scene. This was an extremely bad move on his part, as he soon found out, for Miss Brotherson became very angry and publicly announced their engagement. omething over a year ago, and Waterville angry and publicly announced their engagement.

Then there was a pretty kettle of fish. After announcing the engagement, Miss Brotherson would have nothing further to do with him, and the father of ida White forbade him the premises. There was nothing for him to do but to search for "green fields and pastures new." so he thought he would close the incident by going to Atchison. Here it was that he married Miss Chisam, a most estimable young lady and a prominent church worker. But he was not to get off so easily, and charges were brought against him of conduct unbecoming a minister of the Gospel, with the result as told above.
